The Flannery Family

Serving in Milan, Italy

Happy New Year from Milan!

We are sorry for the delay in our recent updates--end of December was a little crazy and then we were in mid-January! A quick recap on life and ministry for December:

Christmas Eve family PJs!

We closed out the year with two weeks of Caffè and Convos on Tuesday mornings and a final Bible study before everyone left for home, travels and the holidays. Like in August, most of Milan leaves to head back to the south or the cities they are from so the city becomes very quiet again and most businesses close for a few weeks. Danielle took her language exam on December 4th and hopefully the results will be back by the beginning of March. We enjoyed various couples and families at our home for meals for continued connections. We enjoyed a lovely Christmas with some new friends in the city and then traveled for a few days in Dolomite mountains to play in the snow with the boys! It was great to explore a new valley, enjoy relaxed family time and wander through some classic Christmas markets. We are so grateful for the gift that made it possible!

January started with typical winter illness that kept us cooped up in the house but by the time school restarted on the 7th, everyone was on the mend! Danielle was able to spend some time with her friend Sara and share about the beauty of spiritual giftings and how we can glorify G-d with them. This was such a neat step and we took a gifting quiz to identify our strengths and can continue to flourish in her growing walk! Furthermore, Sara recently expressed interest in wanting to be baptized! The church is in the process of planning her baptism.

Family winter vacation to the mountains to play in the snow!

January has been a slower start to resuming our Tuesday morning conversations group but we have had a strong BStudy, including a new person crossing over from the conversations group! This is what one of our main purposes is---outreach via Tuesday morning, crossing over to BStudy to hear the Good News and meet church members and then discipling to faith. We have received very encouraging reviews from our Tuesday group, especially from this participant (A). Please pray that he continues to come and we can grow these friendships personally!

Danielle started driving school here which is a whole new ball game. Literally studying motors, calculating braking distance based on speed and incline and a new world of vocabulary in Italian. Kaleb started back at preschool & is becoming very comfortable in Italian! It is beyond cool to see how much he has advanced through this immersion. We are in the process of discussing elementary school options for him. David is continuing his daily language lessons, maintaining church partnership relationships, meeting with lost friends and writing his PhD dissertation. Jackson is, well, he's Jackson hahaha his days are filled with stroller walks with Mommy and friends, lego building, snack eating, worship song singing and family cuddling. He's a feisty little one that continually makes us laugh!

THANK YOU! We received some care packages from Christmas and they were such a blessings. Between treats, gifts and needs, we are so grateful for how you have loved us so well!

Flannery Family Update...cont'd

Our main tutor Marta came to our house for a "Thanksgiving" dinner with her husband.

Brotherly love :-)

Kaleb and one of his school friends (Z) who play together frequently.
